

by the 1980s, the U.S. government had a significant presence in the country, and the military was a dominant force in the economy. The military was a dominant force in the economy.

Findings

Parliamentary system established in 1979, but the military remained a dominant force in the economy. The military was a dominant force in the economy. The military was a dominant force in the economy.

The military remained a dominant force in the economy. The military was a dominant force in the economy. The military was a dominant force in the economy.

The military remained a dominant force in the economy. The military was a dominant force in the economy. The military was a dominant force in the economy.

The military remained a dominant force in the economy. The military was a dominant force in the economy. The military was a dominant force in the economy.

Office of Administrative Responsibility

Administrative Responsibility

Approved: President, American Government Workers Union, Local 1000

Date: December, 1978